THE COURTS.

Interesting Argument Before the Supreme Court, General Term.

RUDOLPH A. WITTHAUS' ESTATE.

Mr. Lopez Attempting to Obtain Possession of His Alleged Wife.

HE SECURES A WRIT OF HABBAS CORPUS

The case of John Martin and another vs. James . Walker and wife came up for argument before the General Term of the Supreme Court yesterday on an appeal taken by the plaintiff from a judgment in two of the defendants. The action was brought in the form of a creditor's bill to set aside certain conveyances made by the defendant, James W. Walker, to his wife, on the alleged ground that the same were made for th purpose of cheating and defrauding creditors. On a trial of the issues before Judge Van Vorst His Honor decided that no fraud was committed, and dismissed the plaintiff's complaint. It appears that Mr. Walker was formerly a policeman, and while acting as such a judgment was recovered against him in an action for an assault and battery. For non-payment of the judgment an order to examine him in supplementary proceedings was issued. In these proceedings he was liped for contempt and directed to pay the amount of the judgment, together with $250 coursel fees. An appeal was taken from this order and an affirmance of the order taken by default. An action was then instituted by the plaintiff to set aside the conveyance of the defendant, as before stated. Mr. A. H. Reavey, on behalf of the respondent, claimed that the question as to whether there was fraud or not in the case was a question of fact, and the Court below having passed upon it the same was conclusive. After argument by Mr. Bainbridge Smith on behalf of the plaintiffs the Court took the papers and reserved its decision.

THE WITTHAUS WILL CASE. Some short time subsequent to the death of Rudolph Witthaus, once a wealthy and enterprising merchant of this city, Mrs. Fanny Donerty applied for letters of administration on the estate, estimating the personal property of the deceased at $50,000, and claiming that he had died owing her for services as claiming that he had died owing her for services as homsekeeper the sum of $2,500. The law in cases of this kind gives claimants, under the circumstances presented by Mrs. Deherty, the right to apply for letters of administration for the intervention of the Surrogate's Court. Yesterday the widow of the deceased, Mrs. Marie A. Witthaus, also applied for letters of administration, putting the personal property at only $1,000. The housekeeper formally objects to the granting of letters of administration to the widow, unless she submits to a legal examination of the property and gives bonds in $50,000 for the protection of the same during the investigation.

THE WILL THAT WAS NOT A WILL ruary last at her late residence, No. 10 East Forty-first Her property was valued at $25,000. In he will she nominated her sister, Mrs. Edna Minor, as her executrix. A clause in the will provided for the estab lishment of two scholarships and for the education o young men for the ministry under the auspices of the Episcopal Evangelical Society of Philadelphia. The residue of the estate was left to her mother, Mrs. Jane Valentine, the same at her death to be divided in equal shares among her relatives. The will is now contested by the subscribing withesses to the will, Mrs. Minor, the sister and sole executrix of the testatrix, by her mother, the immediate legates, and the brother of the deceased, William G. Valeutine, on the ground that none of the foregoing named subscribing witnesses knew at the time that the paper signed by them was or purported to be a will, the testatrix, according to the testimony, having held her hand over the paper at the time of their having severally signed it. Surrogate Calvin, in rendering his decision yesterday, said:—The paper propounded is not sufficiently proved. There is no evidence that the testatrix either signed the will in the presence of the subscribing witnesses or that the acknowledged the execution thereof; nor is there any evidence of the publication of the instrument as a will, nor does it appear that the subscribing witnesses were informed or knew what the instrument was that they assumed to witness. For these reasons the paper offered for probate should be and is rejected. Valentine, the same at her death to be divided in equal VERDICT AGAINST THE CITY. When the schoolship Mercury was on a cruise in 1873 she sustained injuries by encountering a school of whales. On her return to this port two o the Commissioners of Charities and Correction signed a requisition for repairs. The Common Council author ized the work to be done, and it was given out to lierbert Lawrence. Payment of this bill (amounting to the neat little som of $23.01148) was recused by the late Comptroller on the ground that the requisition should have been signed by three Commis-sioners, and other objections were interposed. On the aroners, and other concerns were interposed. On the first trial of the case the plaintiff got a judgment, out upon appeal this was reversed and a new trial ordered. The second trial, before Judge Van Hoesen, in the Court of Common Pleas, resulted in a verdice, by direction of the Court, for $29,118 87, including interest.

THE LOPEZ-MORRISON MARRIAGE Joseph Lopez, the story of whose marriage with Miss Scorgiana Morrison has aiready appeared in the HERALD, has begun legal proceedings for the purpose figrath, has begun legal proceedings for the purpose of obtaining possession of her. As already stated, the young lady's father, Mr. Frederick S. Morrison, upon learning of the marriage, removed his daughter beyond her husband's reach. Yesterday, on application on behalf of the husband, Judge Barrett granted a writ of habeas corpus, directing the father to produce his daughter on the 19th inst. In his petition Lopez says the alleged cause of his wife's detention and conceatment by her lather is her imbecting, but avers that this is a mero protence, and that she is of perfectly agned mind.

Judge Barrett, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday denied a motion made a lew days since for the appointment of a receiver of the New York and Southern Steamship Company. The motion was made on the ground that the company was not in a position to meet its obligations, which allegations were denied on the part of the company.

Patrick Farley, as administrator of Thomas Farley, a laborer employed on the Fourth avenue improvement, brought a suit against the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company to receiver $5.0.0 damages for the death of Thomas, who was kilied by a locomotive. The second trial of the case was commenced yesterday before Judge Van Hoesen, in the Court of Common Pleas.

on Pleas, the divorce suit of Nettie Goodheart against In the divorce suit of Nettle Goodbeart against William Goodbeart judge Bargetti, in Supreme court, Chambers, yesterday granted an order directing George P. Neison to show cause why Henry C. Denison should not be substituted in his stead as attorney for Mrs. Goodbeart. Mrs. Goodbeart says she expected a divorce for nothing, but her present attorney wants $50, and, as she alleges, won't give up the papers in the case.

Borland va. The New York and Southern Steamship Company.—The insolvency of the company is not established and there is no reason to apprehend immediate steps by the creditors. In view of that tack, and also in view of the within request for non-interference submitted upon this motion by a large majority of the stockholders and creditors of the company, the Court cannot upon a preliminary motion grant an order which would substantially wind up the company and prevent all further efforts at successful instangement. The plaintiff should be remitted to a regular trial of the issues at Special Term, and the motion for a receiver should be desired with $10 costs.

Matter of Peyster and another,—I am not satisfied with the provisions as to the security to be furnished by the proposed trustee. He should either give security for the full amount of the principal, or provision should be made for the payment of such principal directly into the trust company, only to be drawn upon the order of this Court.

GENERAL SESSIONS-PART 1. A MEAN THIEF PUNISHED.

Just as Benjamin Ecke, of No. 436 West Fifty-sixth street was leaving the restaurant at No. 883 Eighth avenue on the 9th inst., Peter Masterson, a hack driver, who was accompanied by a man named O'Brien, appro. 2ed him, saying he would drive him the libation he was conveyed to his house. Upon arriving there the hackman demanded fifty cents, arriving there the hackman demanded fifty cents, which sum, however, Ecke could not give. Masterson thereupon snatched his watch, and jumping upon the box of the hack drove off at a turious rate. Ecke followed in full chase, and after a good run, in which he was soon joined by an officer, the hack was brought to a standatill and the man arrested. When arraigned by Assistant District Atternoy Bell yesterday the prisoner pleaded guilty and Recorder Hackett sent him to the State Prison for the term of four years and six months.

HE WANTED TO BURY HIS WIFE. John Watts, a rare specimen of humanity, who gave his residence as No. 166 Chatham street, was arraigned at the bar charged with having obtained money unde faise pretences. It appeared that with a woful expression, which he know well how to assume, he was in the habit of receiving contributions from generous minded people on the retext that he was sadly in need of funds to bury his wife. Some time ago he swindled Mr. E. H. Tomkius, of No. 50 West Frity-drax street, out of $2 on this representation. Not many days since he again presented himself at the same place, this time for money to bury his child. It transpiring that the follow had never had either wife or child he was arrested. On being arraigned for trial yesterday he pleaded guilty and was sent to the Ponitontiary for one year. false pretences. It appeared that with a woful expres

ALL FOR HIM. On the 7th inst. the lager beer saloon of John Dersome articles of trifling value were carried off. Not long after Officer Davis, seeing James Toue and his wife walking about in the vicinity in a suspicious manner, arrested them and found the stolen property in their possession. The wife, on being taken into castody, asserted that her husband was innocent, and that she alone perpetrated the burglary. They were both arraigned yesterday for trial by Assistant District Attorney Bell and found guilty. The Recorder sentenced the busband to two years and six months in the State Prison and his wife for the term of one year and six months. long after Officer Davis, seeing James Tone and his Frederika Nichols, a married woman, who was tried and convicted on Friday last on an indictment charging her with the incomy of wearing apparel valued a $100, was, on motion of her counsel, Mr. Edmund E. Price, granted a new trial, and upon her arraign-ment before the Court yesterday she was discharged.

MORE MILKMEN PINED. Patrick Maloney, No. 210 Sixth street, and John H Klaathar, No. 76 Orchard street, were charged with selling adulterated inlik, in violation of the ordinance of the Board of Realth. The prisoners pleaded guilty. Klaathar was fined $50 and Maioney $25.

GENERAL SESSIONS-PART 2. Before Judge Sutherland. A WARNING TO "STRAW" BONDSMEN. Theodore F. Stratton, who was jointly indicted with art, on the charge of attempting to procure a fraudu-lent bond for the release of Thomas L. Birch who was committed to the Tombs for tendering "straw" bail. was arraigned for trial yesterday by Assistant District Attorney liorace Russell. The prisoner-a man about fifty years-was defended by Messrs. William F. Howe and Esgar Chipman. Mr. Russeil in opening the case graphically described the modes generally resorted to by "straw" bailmen to secure the liberty of offenders against the law. He said they were always happy to oblige a triend for a consideration, and as they were pretty shrewd in their operations it was often very difficult to overhaul them. In this instance the prisoner approached Isaac Warzielder, of No. 340 West Twenty-seventh street, whom he know for about Ive years. He made a transfer to the latter of a house (No. 348 East 122d street) for a nominoil consideration. A deed of transfer was made out, and the property, which was mortgaged for nearly its value, was held in the name of Waitzielder, the excuse being that there were several juggments against it. Not long afterward the prisoner came to him and saked him to go bail for thomas Grawford in a civil sunt, telling him generally that if he pursued the business of a bailman he could make $200 s week, and dress well. He next requested him to go bail for You shoplinters on this property, but the matter fell through. Later on man named Condit, who was charged with circulating take telegrams relative to the death of Commodore Vanderbit. The prisoner next asked him to go security for the release of Thomas Is. Birch, who had been arrested for parjury, adding that there would be $150 "put up" in the job; that there would be no trouble about it and that Birch was sure to 'unru up." He was introduced to Robert K. Stewart as the bondsman of Birch, and Stewart was to furnish the lunds. Stratton desired Waitzfeider to accompany Stewart to the District Attorney's office and justify, warning him not to mention bis (Stratton's) name in the matter. The prisoner also instructed him to state that he nots received were about $130 per month. All this Waitzfeider agein went to the District Attorney's office for the purpose mentioned. All this time District Attorney's office for the purpose mentioned. All this time District Attorney's office for the purpose mentioned. Stewart, and Edgar Chipman. Mr. Russeil in opening the case graphically described the modes generally resorted to upon the statement of Mr. Russelt that the prisoner made a regular business of going straw ball, he was sent to the Penitentiary for four years and six months.

IS THE WILL A FORGERY?

IS THE WILL A FORGERY?

The will of the late Mrs. Peter Dehnert came before Surrogate Dailey, of Kings county, yesterday, on motion to admit it to probate. The document was are Henry Oltmans and Frederick Schaffer, the latter being the brother of the deceased lady. The property being the brother of the deceased lady. The property is bequeathed to Peter Dehnert, her husband, and is valued at $20,000. A few weeks ago Mr. Dehnert, who is a tailor, was marged to a young lady in Williamsburg, who was spoken of its occupy as the "Belle of Dutch Town." His children, who are grown up, not liking their stepmother, left their father's house and went to reside with their aunt. Their father them caused their arrest for taking away certain articles of wearing apparel. The case was dismissed by Justice Semier, bofore whom the children were arrangued. Counsellor Towns, who appeared for the four daughters of Mr. Dehnert, opposed the admission of the will to probate on the ground that "Mrs. Dehnert was ill when the will was made; that it was prepared while she was under the undoe control of her husband, and finally, that it is a forgery and a fraud." Mr. Olimans and Mr. Schaffer testified that they had not rigned the will. The case was adjourned till June 1 to allow Mr. Dehnert to retain the services of counsel.

LAND TITLE LITIGATION.

A decision was rendered by Judge McCue, of the by Peter L. Whalley and others, grandchildren of Thomas Lune, against Peter Meyer and others, to recover ten lots of land. The title to the property, which cover ten loss of land. The title to the property, which is valued at $30,000, is contested on the ground that certain proceedings taken in the County Court in 1851, by the grandmother of plaintiffs, to seil the lots wore void, as she had only a lise interest in the property. The City Court decides that the County Court had no pursidiction to authorize a sale of the land in question. Froceedings will be taken for the ejectment of the decendants.

CUSTOM HOUSE INVESTIGATION.

THE AMERICAN SILK GROWERS STATE THEIR GRIEVANCES-MR. HEWITT'S COMPLAINT-A PROPOSITION TO ABOUTSH THE VAVAL OF FICE-A LARGE REDUCTION OF EMPLOYES TO BE MADE

A delegation representing the American Silk Grow ing Association, consisting of Messrs, A. B. Strange. T. N. Dale, Franklin Ailen and F. W. Cheney, waited to impress upon the minds of the Commissioners several points—for instance, "more definite regulations concerning the shipment and starting of goods from Europe, in order to protect the interest of the import "Consular invoices should not be issued in the present loose manner;" "that more efficiency should be had in the Appraisers' Department," and "the penalties for smuggling should be rigidly enforced." The silk men further complained that on a reappraisement for undervaluation the advance made is usually only about nine per cent, in order to come within the law and thereby save the delinquent importer the twenty per cent penalty. The commission promised to give Congressman Abram S. Hewitt was the next witness He testified concerning the operation of the custom Fourty-fourth Congress Solicitor Biulord Wilson re quested of him a history of abuses existing in the New York Custom House, coming under his personal ob-servation. Mr. Wilcon informed Mr. Hewitt that it servation. Mr. Wilson informed Mr. Hewitt that it was understood at the department that he was cognizant of gross irregularities existing there in relation to the payment of merchant appraisers fees. It was to be the subject of a Congressional investigation Mr. Hewitt stated that he laid bare the following facts, as he knew them:—About six years ago a number of importers of steel demurred to the tariff, as far as it concerned them, and called for a reappraisement. The matter was referred to Judge Hogeboom, then General Appraiser, and Collector Grinnell appointed witness as one one of the merchant appraisers. First, seven cames were examined in seven days, for which Judge Hogeboom, then General Appraiser, and Collector Grinnell appointed witness as one one of the merchant appraisers. First, seven cames were examined in seven days, for which Judge Hogeboom, then General Appraiser of the money baid by the merchants for reappraisements news told by Mr. Lydecker and Assistant Collector Glinch that it was none of his business; witness did not think that this money went into the Treasury, and he knew the merchants had none returned to them.

A military looking gentleman is Colonel George Edward Hail, a twelve-hundred-dollar clerk in the Auditor's division, who voluntarily came before the commission, and brought with him a document containing ten pages of foolscap paper, closely written over. This formidable document was a general dissertation on Custom House abuses, written out in the snape of questions and answers. In this the Colonel went over the department in general, and the Naval Office in particular. The latter he wanted anolished, and in order to have a cheek on the Collector he would have the Collector appoint duplicate sets of liquidating clerks. The Appraisers' office he recommended to be entirely cleaned out, with new and more competent men to take the places of the old ones. The Examiner of Art snould have a solar pointment in the Guide to Commerce.

Mr. Turnure Informed the reporters that the statement made by the four gentlemen named was of a personal nature, relating to their own grievances, and to abuses in the Appraisers' Department, they having been shifted about considerably. Mr. James E. Weich, an assistant oppraiser of passenger bagging, was the last witness, after which the commission adjourned. Mr. Turnure informed the reporters that an arrangement has been entered into by the commission with Collector Arthur and Naval Officer Cornell by which a large reduction of the force will be at once recommended and acted upon.

KENTUCKY "MOONSHINE."

UNITED STATES DEPUTY MARSHALS IN TROUBLE-SEARCHING A SUSPECTED HOUSE-FREE USE OF FIREARMS.

A case of importance and much interest has come up a Kentucky recently—that of four deputy United States marshals, who have got into trouble by some questionable conduct. In this State, where so much whiskey is produced, a large class of people distin illicitly. So much of this work is carried on that off cers are compelled to be constantly employed in the shiners," as these law breakers are termed in their native State. "Moonshine men" distil in the woods, and, as a general thing, in the night. They are full of pluck, and baving no special love for the officers of the government they who engage in their capture are always armed heavily. Upon the night of May 6 last four of these officers were carrying on a raid in Bar ren county. They had arrested one man and placed him in jail at Glasgow. Returning into the country distillery. Riding back toward Glasgow one of the two prisoners said to the Marshal nearest him:-

"Why don't you keich other folks as are in this business as well as I? Them Reynolds folks is astilling."

The Marshal inquired who the Reynolds were and where they lived. The prisoner told him. The four marshals then surrounded their house. This was at one o'clock A. M., May 7. An attempt to search the house of the Reynolds resulted in some serious snooting. One of the deputies, Americus Whedon, conversing with the writer as to the place, spoke as follows:—

"We hat strived by the Reynolds' farm, and, in order to satisfy myself of what truth there was in his assertion, I dismounted to make a search. The knock I gave the door was answered by an old lady's voice shouting—

"Tom came to the door and I asked for water to drink. He answered—"Go to the rear and get it."

drink. He answered—""Go to the rear and get it.""
"I said—"
"'Is and—"
"'My men are in front and I can't go back."
"'I'll not bring it,' said ne.
"'Oh, yes,' I continued, 'please bring it; we are traveliers and are in need of it. You know my voice; I bought buttermilk this merning from you."
"The door opened, and a voice repeated, 'I won't bring it.' Two men were to be seen, and, laying my hand upon one's shoulder, I called out, 'You won't resist an officer or refuse him a drink, will you?' The answer was a blow on the bose. The claret came preity heavily, and as some one made a grab a shot was fired. This was followed by a second one. They stepped back without falling, and nearing a third party click a gun I fell back to the fence and all of us remounting went away. We arrived at Giasgow at half-past three A. M., lodged the prisoners in jail and went to bed. In the morning early a sheriff called with a writ for our arrest. We told him we would answer it, and he left, came back again and told us to obey the summons. The people had gathered in large numbers and looked a triffe threatening. We felt uneasy and refused to go into court until the chamber was cleared by the Judge. This increased the excitement, We finally went to court, gave up our arms and stood trial, the result being a postponement until to-day."

The other marshals confirmed Whodon's narrative. No one aknowledged the shooting or named the author.

Waits of Harra Corus,

The remaining deputies were John Wyatt, Walter Whitaker and Edgar Wyatt.

Colonel Duval, the United States Marshal of Kenker and Edgar Wyatt.

Colonel Duval, the United States Marshal of Kenker and believing something serious might result from the imprisonment of their deputies in Glasgow they quietly procured writs of habeas corpus and managed to have them served on the Sheriff of Barren county when he was least expecting them. When the officers appeared with their writs the Civil Court, by whose direction the government officials had been arrested, together with all parties concerned, several hundred citizens and the four marshals, was about to proceed to the scene of the shooting to confront the inter with the wounded mea, hoping thus to a secretain who fired the shoots. The arrival of the habeas corpus processes of course stopped the party, as no resistance to their service was offered. The lour prisoners were then brought to Louisville and tried before Judge Ballard, of the United States Court. He continued their cases until May 23, holding each in the sum of $2,000 to answer. The trail was thus deferred to await the result of the wounds received. Thomas Reynolds its supposed to be mortally wounded, Isaac Reynolds dangerously.

The important legal feature is as to whether the marshals had a right to even go to the house of the Reynolds without warrants. They claim that their prisoner asserted most positively that "moonshipe" was made by the Reynolds and that their purpose was to search the house and ascertain for themselves the truth of his assertion.

POPULAR SENTIMENT.

POPULAR SENTIMENT.

The people of Barren say that a great outrage has been committed, and its perpetrators should be pure been committed, and its perpetrators should be punished. For this purpose they have employed counsel to argue before the federal Judge that the writs be dismissed and the case given to the Civil Court for trial. Associate Justice Swam will be in Louisville when the case comes up on the 23d, as will also all the leading legal lights of the Commonwealth. A deep laterest is manifested in the probable result of the affair, and especially as to the action of Judge Ballard.

THE TWENTY-NINTH PRECINCY.

LIKELIHOOD OF ITS DIVISION INTO TWO PARTS EACH UNDER A SEPARATE CAPTAIN.

The Police Commissioners have been considering the advisability of splitting the Twenty-ninth precinct into equal parts, one of which should be under the control of Captain Alexander Williams, the other under some one lamiliar with station duties. The Twenty-ninth precinct is bounded at present by Fourteenth street n the south, Forty-second street on the north and Seventh and Fourth avenues west and east. There

BROOKLYN ECONOMY.

At a meeting of the Kings County Board of Super visors, held yesterday atternoon, the question of economy in the matter of county expenditures was bers have been discussing the propriety of reducing the enormous fees now paid the Speriff, who is a republican, for the board of prisoners. Supervisor Sex ton introduced a resolution to the effect that the Committee on the Jail be directed to consider and report at the next meeting of the Board what in their judg ment would be fair per diem allowance, in accordance with the present times, for the beard of the prisoners at the County Jail. The resolution was adopted. It is claimed that from twenty to twenty-five cents per day is ample for the support of jail prisoners, who now cost thrity-eight cents. Supervisor Nathan offered a resolution to the effect that the committee having under consideration the board of prisoners shall further inquire into and ascertain if a reduction cannot also be made in the price paid for the maintenance of inmates in other institutions; also to report the reduction of the fees and allowances practicable of the several county officials. On motion of Supervisor Moran the latter resolution was referred to the Salary Committee. The democrais regard the latter resolution as aimed chiefly at the coroners, who are of that party, and whose fees are $12.50 per inquest.

AN EXTRAORDINARY HEAD.

Alexander Brown, a stalwart negro, who is popularly known in the lower part of the city as the "human steamboat," owing to his ability to perfectly imitate the shricking of a steamboat whistle and other noises was again in the Tombs Polico Court yesterday as a prisoner, the charge against him being assaulting a boy. When last before the Court be gave such vivid illustrations of his imitative vocal faculties that the Justice released him simply with a reprimand. Yes-terday he pleaded hard to be released, offering to imitate half a dozen steamboats at the same time, but Judge Smith was indexible, sentencing him to one month's imprisonment on the Island.

"Now, I jess want ter die, Jedge," yelled the prisoner, desparingly; and to prove his truthfulness he made a flerce plunge with his head against the iron railing, quivering the latter, but not perceptibly injuring his head. The officers quickly pulled him away and dragged him into the prison yard. Five minutes later a loud thad was heard in the court room and the spectators rushed to the windows to see Brown struggling with four officers. He had managed to get from their grasp and had rushed head first with tremendous force against the grante walls of the prison. Everybody looked to see him drop dead, but he did not drop. The wail was possibly injured by the force of the shock, but the negro's head was to all appearances intact. He was simally overpowered and strapped to a hed in a cell. For an hour afterward the corridors of the prison wer resonant with loud steamboat whistles, the growing of fighting dogs and the roars of inturiated buils, commingled occasionally with a deep bass of "I doan want ter live no mo!" tate half a dozen steamboats at the same time, but

William R. H. Andrews, a well dressed and intelligent looking young man, residing in Farmingdale, L. I. was arraigned at the Tombs Police Court, yesterday, charged with having forged the name of his sister, Caroline V. Andrews, to a warranty deed conveying to his wife Rebecca a piece of property situated in Farm-ingdale, L. L., and valued at $2,500, which property ingdale, L. L. and valued at $2,500, which properly was owned by his sister Caroline. It is charged that on the 24th ult. Andrews called on his counsel, Mr. Metzger, of this city, and acknowledged before him as notary the genuineness of the signature to the deed. The instrument was soon afterward placed on record. When the lorgery was discovered a warrant was obtained from Police Justice Smith, Andrews being in the city and he was recombly arrested. this city, and he was promptly arrested. In court y terday District Attorney Downing, of Queens coun appeared on behalf of the prosecution. The prisoner through his counsel, Mr. Metzger, pleaded not guilty and was held for examination in the sum of $2,500.

"WES" ALLEN AND THE WATCH.

On Sunday last Mr. William Taylor, of No. 74 Bed. ford avenue, Brooklyn, was on his way home from Prospect Park, in company with his wife and daughter, on a Vanderbilt avenue car, when he was jostled rather rudely by a man, who soon after nighted on Jay street. Mr. Taylor then discovered that his gold watch was gone. He called at Police Headquarters and described the suspected thief as being well dressed and wearing the suspected thief as being well dressed and wearing a green patch ever his left eye. From other details given by Mr. Taylor, Detectives Frost and carr concluded that the pickpocket was the notorious "Wes" Allen. Yesterday the officers arressed Allen on Fulton street, where he was shopping with a young woman. He was committed to await examination. The prisoner declared that he was innocent and begged the reporters not to say anything against him until he could be heard in his defence. He is about thirty-four years of age and has served several terms in State Frison. Mr. Taylor and his wice are positive that the prisoner Allen is the man who rode with them on the car when the watch was stoien.

PAILURE OF A LARGE CLOTHING HOUSE-THE AFFAIRS OF, ROTHSCHILD & HEYMANN.

The clothing trade was surprised vesterday by the announcement of the failure of A. Steinberg, mann-facturer of clothing, at No. 37 Walker street, it being the est fallure in this trade this year. Mr. Steinberg has been in business for many years, and had an excellent reputation for business integrity. He commenced on trifling capital, and had such good credit that he owed in October last $130,000. Since then he has been grad-ually liquidating his debts, and in the past five weeks he has paid off $21,000, purchasing in the meantime goods to the amount of only $1,100. He has made some very heavy losses, and it appears that he is com-pletely wiped out. He started a branch store at Dallas, Texas, which he was compelled to wind up, and in se doing suffered a loss of over $15,000. Nearly all the doing suffered a loss of over $10,000. Nearly all the principal commission houses in the trade are his creditors, the largest creditor being William Meifsel, $10,673 91. The labilities amount to over $70,000 as lar as ascertained. The value of the assets is not known. He has assigned all his effects for the benth of the creditors to Mr. Fred. Lewis, who was so successful to setting up the affairs of Stadler & Co., the Broadway clothers. Mr. Lewis said yesterday that he was taking an account of stock and getting the bookt in shape to call a meeting of the creditors. There are a great many accounts to be adjusted, and he could not give any idea of the amount of assets.

An effort is being made by a number of the creditors of Rothschild & Heymann, dry goods importers, of No. 371 Broadway, to throw the irm into backruptcy. A petition to that effect has been filed, but no order for adjudication has as yet been entered. The liabilities of the irm are much greater than at first supposed. A statement has been prepared for the creditors which shows—inbifities, $25,052 67; nominal assets, $15,002 65. It is said that nearly two-thirds of the intellectures is for loans on accommodation paper. The effects of the firm are being administered for the benefit of the creditors by Marcus A. Bettman and Leopold Bernheimer, to whom they recently made an assignment under the State law.

they recently made an assignment under the State law.

The application of Waiter R. Sniffen for a discharge from bankruptcy came before Register Little yesterday, and as there was no opposition on the part of the creditors it will be granted.

A meeting or the creditors of William Pattison, marble dealer, at No. 315 East Twenty-tuird street, was held yesterday at the office of Register Dayton. After proving their debts they elected Richard Taylor assignee in bankruptcy.

The creditors of Phillip Lippoman, bustle manufacturer, formerly at No. 73 Duane street, met before Register Ketchum yesterday and proved the following claims:—Sopnia Vandewelden, $22,001 24; Charles Wossermann, of Miwaukee, $2,500; George A. Clugstein, of Mansfield, Onio, $1,896 16; Leontine Lippoman, $1,540.

A STRANGE LOAD.

"It was the most curious load I ever saw, and I have been in the business new nearly twenty-five years," said venerable Keeper Cunningham, of the no the prison. "There were only four of them in the caravan," he continued, "all bummers, going to Biackwell's Island from the prison here, and among the four there were only three legs. One poor fellow did not have any legs at all and the other three had one each. One of the one-legged prisoners, besides, had a slight hump on his back and another had only one arm." door of the prison. "There were only four of them
